Southminster manse at Lethbridge was the scene of a quiet wedding on Tuesday evening when Harry Richard Evans, of Foremost, and Miss Helen Nadey, of Chapel Rock, were joined in matrimony. They will take up residence in the Foremost district.

Sheriff K. G. Craig returned on Monday from the Mayo Brothers' clinic at Rochester, Minn., where he had gone for medical examination and treatment if necessary. He reports that he is pleased with the results of the examination, and while he does not claim to be in A-1 condition, operations were found inadvisable at this time.—Macleod Gazette.

CROWS' NEST PASS

MUSICAL FESTIVAL

A meeting of the finance and executive committees of the Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival was held in the Greenhill hotel on Wednesday evening, when preparations for the festival coming in November were discussed.

A hearty invitation was sent to Mr. Vernon Barford to come as adjudicator. Mr. Veary, who had accepted the post, has moved to Brantford, Ontario, and it was necessary to decide on a new adjudicator. Mr. Barford is no stranger to us, for his lectures on the radio have been a source of help to all musicians. As a conductor, an organist, a pianist and vocal instructor he is well known. His criticism in all classes will be very constructive. Ways and means of financing the festival were discussed, and it was hoped that with the co-operation of all The Pass, including school boards, councils, lodges and societies, as well as all business concerns, a bigger and better festival would be held in November.

Mr. William Kerr, of Bellevue, was appointed chairman of the finance committee. Mr. J. E. Upton, who has held this position for many years, is president, and asked for the new appointment.

In Class 83 of the syllabus a change was made to "High School Duet," instead of "Girls' Duet," and in Class 79 only B test will be sung, instead of A and B. In class 42 (band), stipulation "no drums" was added, but reads allowed.

On a motion which carried, the territory for Class 42 (band), it was thrown open to all Canada. So few festivals have band classes that this was deemed a class of great interest.

MAR JON WELL

REPORTS HEAVY GAS

An additional flow of gas has been encountered at the Mar Jon well on the Watson structure north of Landbreck, according to report the early part of the week. Control equipment is being attached as a precaution should a big flow be opened up.

Vancouver officials of the company, who recently visited the well are much encouraged by the showing, as much oil has also been encountered. A fair size-flare is reported burning.

The Mar Jon is down to a depth of some 5170 feet, and heavy pressure has been encountered with considerable oil.

PUBLISHERS DEPLORE

ABERHART STATEMENTS

Peterborough, Ont., Sept. 15.—Ontario daily newspaper publishers, at their fall meeting on Monday, passed a resolution deploring announcement by Premier Aberhart of Alberta that licensing of newspapers will receive "my immediate attention," and went on record as opposed to anything interfering with the freedom of the press.

The publishers, members of the Ontario Provincial Dailies Association, went on record as concurring in statements made by Lieutenant-Governor H. A. Bruce, who opened the new plant of the Peterborough Examiner, that "if a newspaper is to be aligned on the side of enlightenment, it must be free of all arbitrary and tyrannously enforced restraints in political censorship."

A section of Technocracy, Inc., has been formed in Drumheller by Jonathan F. Glendon, of Los Angeles, California, with Jack F. Bryant as temporary secretary-treasurer. Requirements for membership are that none shall have any political affiliations whatsoever, and that a very small monthly fee be paid to cover cost of sectional and headquarters operation. Twenty-five applicants are necessary before a permanent section can be formed and a charter issued.

DIRECTOR

GEORGE G. COOTE

Former member of the Dominion House of Commons for Macleod, George G. Coote, of Nanton, was on Friday last appointed a director of the Bank of Canada.

PREMIER OF ALBERTA

AND THE PRESS

The Premier of Alberta seems very much perturbed over a story published in the press of, to use his own words, "a weird tale of an incident on the C.P.R. train in which Mr. Tall gave him his berth, and for which he was given a position with the Government." The inference that he was given a position with the Government is that of the Premier and not of the press which published the story. The publication of the story has raised what can be well described to be a "storm in a teacup," and the Premier has threatened that something should be done "to curb" what in wrathful language he calls the "mad dog operations of certain of the financial press" or, in other words, to muzzle the mad dog.

The story, as published in the press, was an honest story which would have been published of any man holding a high public position as one of public interest. Without doubting the denial of the Premier, it still remains for the parties from whom the story originated to deny it. It was published in good faith by the Herald, and if it had received a denial from these parties when the item appeared in print, the Herald would have been only too ready to give publicity to the denials as it is customary to do. There has been no misrepresentation.

There is misrepresentation and willful misrepresentation. The former is bound to occur; the latter is a reprehensible practice which no reputable paper will entertain. It is not a dignified thing to go into a petty controversy. But under the circumstances we are forced to put the question: not the Social Credit paper guilty of willful misrepresentation when it comes to anything which is thought good material to "boost" Social Credit? There was an instance of this in the report given of the address of a prominent church leader, in which he was credited with encouraging the people to give support to the Social Credit plan. This man made no reference to Social Credit nor the Alberta Government. What he did say was that governments in general were entitled to the support of the people and the rule of the majority must be abided by. This generality was turned in the Social Credit newspaper into the gentleman being in sympathy with Social Credit. Misrepresentation of this kind is evidently considered to be in order when it appears in the Social Credit newspaper; and the church leader, naturally wanting to avoid controversy, bears the misrepresentation in silence.

The Herald deals with Social Credit in its editorial columns, which is the legitimate privilege of newspapers. But it makes it its business to be scrupulously fair in its news columns in the reports of Social Credit meetings and other matters pertaining to it.

BASSO - SARTORIS NUPTIALS

The marriage of Miss Mary Sartoris, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sartoris, of Blairmore, to Mr. E. Basso, of Kimberley, took place at St. Anne's Catholic church here on Monday morning. Shortly after the ceremony, the young couple left by motor on their honeymoon trip, which will take them to Waterton, through Glacier Park to the south and west to Spokane. Upon their return to Canada they will take up residence at Kimberley. The bride is a Blairmore girl and a graduate from the local school. A few years ago she carried off high honors in typing and stenography at international competitions at New York City, later accepting a position with the Alberta Wheat Pool at Calgary, which she has since held.

RELIEF FOR SCHOOL-

LAND PURCHASERS

In an interview granted to the press by the Hon. C. C. Ross, minister of lands and mines, he mentioned the problems confronting the purchasers of school lands, many of whom bought at a time when the financial returns from farm produce was very much in excess of today's prices.

The minister stated that since taking charge of the department he has been giving considerable thought to the situation and, having decided upon the necessity of granting some specific form of relief, action has been taken by proclamation to reduce the interest on the undue instalments of the contracts from six (6%) per cent to four (4%) per cent, and interest on arrears from seven (7%) per cent to five (5%) per cent.

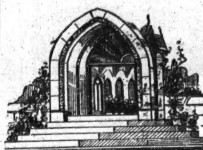

The minister stated that the most outstanding part of the proclamation deals with the assistance that will be given to the purchasers who bought at the peak of prices and who find that through depletion of their resources they are unable to comply with the terms of the contract. Such purchasers will have the right to make application to the registrar of The Farmer's creditor arrangement act for a compromise, and the minister explained that the department would write each holder as to how the purchaser should proceed if he wishes to take advantage of the legislation.

Sales that have been cancelled since September 30th, 1930, may be reinstated if the land is available, and such settlers will have the same privilege to bring their cases before the registrar for a compromise or reduction in the terms of the contracts.

The minister pointed out that this action is consistent with the stand taken by the Government at the recent session in dealing with the reduction and settlement of outstanding debts. Those settlers wishing to obtain advantage of these concessions would, he stated, be well advised to take immediate action so that they may secure the full benefit offered by these amendments.

When the giant liner "Queen Mary" was building, she rested on keel blocks of Douglas fir from British Columbia. Under great pressure from the weight of the enormous hull during the year she lay on the stocks awaiting a turn in the financial tide to go forward with the work of completion, these keel blocks showed no signs of deterioration other than what would have to be expected from the traditional wood used for keel blocks, pitch pine according to the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. Douglas fir is experiencing rapid growth for shipbuilding purposes in British Columbia, such as keel blocks, launching timber and ships' decking.

Social Credit. There may be an occasional slip inadvertently made—and even the Premier of the Province must admit that he is liable to this in the contradictions he has made—but this is rectified when attention is drawn to it.—Lethbridge Herald.

RAILWAYMEN SUPPORT

RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT

A Christian movement among railroad men, dating farther back than the completion of the Company's trans-continental line fifty years ago, has gained a strong foothold in Canada at Toronto, where it was started five years ago, and at Calgary, Lethbridge, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Montreal and other points.

The inception of the Railway Mission in 1881 followed an idea in the mind of a woman, Mrs. Gales, of Brighton, England, four years earlier. She lived near the big railway shops there and conceived the idea of doing personal Christian work among the men and their families. Others became interested in the work and its spread was rapid.

Today hundreds of men and women and children gather in mission halls in England and Scotland every Sunday and frequently on week days. While fairly new in Canada, the Railway Mission is making its influence felt.

Dr. J. S. Hynes is disposing of his medical practice at Claresholm and leaving on Sunday next for New York City to take a year's postgraduate studies there, and will possibly go to Europe later to continue studies. The conclusion of his specializing studies, he plans to establish himself in some large city. For the time being, Mrs. Hynes and children will remain in Claresholm, probably joining the doctor in a month or two in New York. It is not known definitely who his successor will be.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

An uptrend in world trade in 1935, the first in any year since 1929, was reported by the League of Nations review.

The Daily Mirror says 70 brides mourned the departure of the British Mediterranean fleet from Alexandria, the port of Cairo. About half the brides are British, the others being of various nationalities.

Mrs. Margaret Louise Bishop, 79-year-old mother of Canada's premier war ace, Air Vice-Marshal William Avery Bishop, V.C., died at her home in Owen Sound, Ont., after a brief illness.

France will send no more prisoners to the French Guiana penal colonies—including the famed Devil's Island—pending action in parliament on the government's prison reform bill, it has been disclosed.

A further decrease of 38,132 in the number of unemployed, revealed in figures issued by the ministry of labor, brings the total unemployed in Great Britain down to 1,913,940, the lowest figure in six years.

A total of $50,000, including $25,000 first prize, will be offered in the automobile reliability race around Australia in 1936, if efforts of the race committee to raise funds in Sydney are successful.

Germany has placed orders for a large number of ultra-modern tanks capable of speeds of about 50 miles per hour on level ground and 30 miles per hour over rough country, the diplomatic correspondent of the Manchester Guardian said.

Hazell S. Jones, Astronomer Royal of England, and H. G. Wells, the novelist, have approved the "Rational Calendar" of eight months of 30 days and four of 31, with a "New Year's Eve Day," to be submitted to the League of Nations.

It was disclosed in London recently that more than 2,000 people were injured during 1935 through the opening and closing of railway train doors. In the same period 14 were killed and 1,495 injured attempting to board or alight from moving trains.

Valuable Metals Located

Miner At Goldfields May Produce Good Commerce

Chiefly noted for gold discoveries Goldfields, Sask., mining field may produce other useful metals in commercial quantities, according to reports brought in by engineers.

Molybdenite, used for strengthening steel, has been reported a Wolf-ramite, the ore containing tungsten, also used in tool-making and as filaments in light bulbs, has been discovered in several sections, as have nickel, lead, zinc, silver and copper. Pitchblende, carrying radium, has also made its appearance. The field is still too new to know just how large the deposits of the various metals are and whether they can be mined at a profit.

Big Price For Sheep

Aristocratic sheep commanded record prices at the closing day of the National Wool Growers' Association's annual ram sale in Salt Lake City. James Laidlaw, of Muldoon, Idaho, paid the top price of $11,000 for a two-year-old Suffolk ram offered by the Suffolkdale Meadows Farm of Ilerton, Ont. The ram was undefeated champion of the 1935 Royal Canadian show.

Glass Experts Puzzled

Dr. John Clyde Hotteletter, Corning, N.Y., glass expert, returned from a meeting of glass technologists in London with the startling news the experts are trying to decide what glass is. Dr. Hotteletter directed casting of a 200-inch lens for the California Institute of Technology.

Mines Laboratories Busy

Heavy Receipts of Gold Ore For Testing Are Reported

Reflecting the steady and widespread improvement in mining throughout Canada, the Mines Branch Laboratory of the Canadian Department of Mines reports that receipts of gold ore for testing during the first half of the year exceeded those of any like period in past years. In the majority of cases the ores are from the many gold properties throughout Canada that are entering or nearing production. Full advantage is being taken by operators of the modern equipment and metallurgical laboratories of the Department of Mines, where the ores are being tested mainly to determine suitable mill treatment processes for the several enterprises.

Three research projects relating to the treatment of gold ores are underway. One is on refractory gold ores such as those that occur in the Bridge River area, British Columbia. The second is an investigation to determine the relationship of the mineralization and genesis of the ores to treatment problems; and the third is an examination of the modes of occurrences of gold in sulphides, and the effect on ore treatment of such associations.

More test work is under way on base metal ores than in 1935, but the number of samples received is small in comparison with pre-depression years, when the high prices of the metals provided a stimulus for exploratory effort. A notable feature is the sharp increase in the number of requests for test work on non-metallic ores. The increase is traceable mainly to the distinct revival of activities in the building construction industries. Tests are being carried out of the beneficiation and uses of such minerals as china clay, silica sands and sandstones, quartzite, calcite, garnet, and mica, and on the tailings from asbestos milling plants.

French Adjudicator

Judge Of French Theatre May Preside At Drama Festival

Col. H. C. Osborne, honorary director of the Dominion drama festival, returned from Europe and said next year's adjudicator of the drama festival will be a judge of the French theatre, if present plans materialize.

"A judge of the French theatre for the coming finals will give new ideas and a new point of view," Col. Osborne stated. "Naturally, at this early date it is impossible for me to make any definite announcement as to the individual. It is very hard for a man to say at the present time that he will be available to come to Canada late next winter, but the groundwork has been laid and I expect to make a definite announcement in the near future."

Col. Osborne also said he expected to be able to announce by the end of October who the regional adjudicators will be.

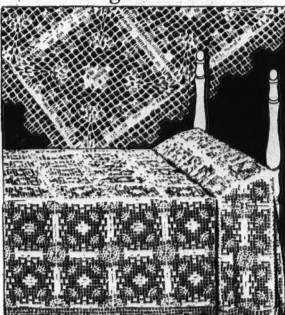

Telling Him Gently

The fat old man was in a bad temper.

SPEED TRAIN LEAVING WINNIPEG

Charging into space in the straight away leaving Winnipeg, the Canadian Pacific Railway's new light-weight speed train clips into its stride of 110 miles an hour. To satisfy his artistic demands, the photographer's request for a plume of smoke was granted, although the engineer on the new "3001" takes pride in the almost smokeless performance of the streamlined beauty. The train, with company officials aboard, was beginning its exhibition tour of the prairies. By the end of September it will take over its regular daylight run between Calgary and Edmonton.

Presents Real Problem

Man Returns To Prison But Cannot Be Admitted

Authorities of Blackpool, that Lancashire resort by the Irish Sea, are baffled by the case of George Santos, a motor mechanic. Santos paid his own fare to complete a three months' jail sentence. But prison authorities won't let him in. Santos pleaded guilty at Blackpool to a charge of loitering with criminal intent. He was sentenced to three months with hard labor.

Four days after Santos began to serve his sentence he decided to appeal. Bail was granted but there was a delay in obtaining suitable securities. Santos expected the appeal would be heard at Preston but the appeals committee ruled the appeal could not be heard as he had not secured bail within 21 days of his conviction.

Santos then surrendered himself at Walton Jail, Liverpool. But as there was no commitment, he could not be admitted. He offered himself at two police stations. The police also declined to have him.

Now Blackpool's clerks and magistrates are wondering what to do. The clerk explained that although the bail and sureties arrived a day late he had no course but to accept them. He also doubts whether he has powers to issue another commitment.

Brings Big Sum

Old Likeness Sold In London For Over $10,000

In the year 1464 or thereabouts a French painter named Jean Fouquet drew on a small piece of paper a swift likeness of a Papal legate who had a hawk nose, full cheeks, and searching eyes.

Just recently the likeness was bought in London for the astounding sum of £10,710 by Lord Duven, bidding at Christie's during the third and concluding session of the Henry Oppenheimer sale of oldmaster drawings.

Sampire, a Zulu 20 inches high, claims to be the smallest man in the world and says that three-quarters of a yard of cloth is sufficient for a suit for him.

Message From The Dead

Sir Edward Beatty Gets Wire From Major Hell's Bells Rogers

Sir E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R., received a message from the dead when he passed through Revelstoke on his return East after an official visit to Vancouver. As he alighted on the station platform, with representatives of the city and Board of Trade in solemn array, the following telegram was handed to him:

"Have nearly completed your blankety-blank railway through mountains and suggest you stop off at Lake Louise to see construction. Can show you better route than Eagle Pass which they say I discovered back in eighties. P.S.—Bring your own raisins as my supply exhausted." (Signed) Major Hell's Bells Rogers.

Sir Edward broke into a laugh as he finished reading the wire and then declared with a stern voice: "I will see Major Hell's Bells Rogers when I get to Lake Louise."

The inside of the story is that the message was from Farrell Macdonald who is portraying the role of Rogers in the Gaumont British film "The Great Barrier," scenes of which were being taken in the vicinity of Lake Louise. Major Rogers was the engineer in charge of construction of the first transcontinental railway through the Rockies and it was he who discovered the necessary pass through observing the flight of an eagle.

Sir Edward was considerably amused when he was told that the head office of the C.P.R. will be transferred from Montreal to Revelstoke for the next few weeks "when board room scenes will be 'shot' in the local rink. In these scenes the characters of Van Horne, Stephen, Smith, Shaughnessy, James J. Hill and Sir John A. Macdonald will be depicted as during the trying times of the building of the railway.

New Postage Stamps

Specimen Sets Were Sent To King Edward For Approval

Specimen sets of the designs for the new King Edward VIII. postage stamps were recently submitted to the King for his approval.

"The first of the new issue is to be on sale to the public early in 1937.

For weeks experts were engaged in preparing drawings of the proposed new issues, and several new ideas have been incorporated.

Before the specimen sets which were sent to the King were prepared every design submitted was considered at the post-office by a committee appointed by Major Tryon, the post-master-general.

It is possible that a special issue of Coronation stamps may be made in May, but no final decision has yet been reached.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 20

CHRISTIAN LIVING

Golden text: Christ liveth in me. Galatians 2:20.

Lesson: Romans 12. Devotional reading: Romans 8: 31-39.

Explanations And Comments

A Call to Consecration for Service, Romans 12:1, 2. The "One Volume Commentary" paraphrases these verses thus: God's redeeming love should be answered by the true sacrifice and the spiritual, ritual service of a life of purity and self-denial and for God. Do not follow the fashion and customs of the worldly society around you, but let your ways of thinking be so changed by the Holy Spirit that you look for and recognize God's will and love to do it.

The meaning of these two verses have been aptly expressed by another in these brief words: "In view of all that God has done for us, we should henceforth live for him."

He is transformed by the renewing of your mind. "It is amazing what an immense amount of time and money some people will spend in order to change their appearance. But there is another way of transformation, and it is Heaven's way. The transformation begins in the mind. It begins its wonderful work of rejuvenating by completely altering the world of thought, and imagination, and ideal, and fancy, and dreams. It transforms your thoughts of God, and your thoughts of yourself, and your thoughts of others, and your thoughts about everything. Desires and aspirations and judgments—all changed into something which shares the life and likeness of God! And this is to transform life, and at every stage it is to make it beautiful."

Let your love be a real thing, with a longing for evil and a bent for what is good. Put affection into your love for the brotherhood; be forward to honor one another; never let your zeal flag; maintain the spiritual glow (Moffatt's translation). Dr. Robert E. Speer thinks that the word "fervent" does not do justice to the Greek word which Paul uses, which means literally "boiling." Paul's ideal was a man with a hot and burning heart; one with spiritual glow, as Moffatt has it.

Be ye as the Lord: let your hope be a joy to you; be steadfast in trouble; attend to prayer; contribute to needy saints; make a practice of hospitality. (Moffatt's translation).

Chinese Geese Clever

These Chinese geese are clever: Keepers at Springbank Zoo in London, Ontario, report they have a Chinese goose that keeps all the birds "in order" and when the Canada geese disappeared a few days ago the Chinese goose was sent out to bring them back. It did, driving them home to the honk of hoarse commands.

Two Western Boys Get Free Scholarships In McGill

The coveted award of two free scholarships in McGill University, offered every year by the Canadian Pacific Railway to apprentices and other male employees under 21 years of age, enrolled on the permanent staff of the company, and to minor sons of employees, was announced in Montreal by D. C. Coleman, senior vice-president of the railway.

George Stewart, Assiniboia high school, son of Thomas Stewart, locomotive engineer, Assiniboia, Sask., and Howard Campbell, western Canada high school, son of Nelson H. Campbell, trainman, Strathcona, Alta., were the winners.

These young men, each of whom is 17 years of age, won the scholarships in competitive examinations against 37 others contestants from all over Canada, Nova Scotia to British Columbia, and since both of them passed out of school with senior matriculation status, they can enter the university in first year science. They have notified acceptance of the scholarships and shortly commence their studies.

The scholarships cover tuition of four years, on senior matriculation, in the faculty of engineering, with choice of chemical, civil, mechanical or electrical engineering, or five years' tuition in the school of architecture, or four years with the arts faculty of arts and science. The scholarships are renewed from year to year to cover the period, not exceeding five years, if at the close of each session the holders are entitled to full standing in the next higher year.

May Open New Market

Canada Has Sent Trial Shipment Of Lard To Cuba

In Cuba fried foods are used considerably and there is consequently quite a market for lard. Therefore the United States has been the chief source of supply, but with the shortage which is looming up in that country, there are possibilities for other exporters. The hog supply of the United States for the balance of 1935 and probably throughout 1936 has been estimated as sufficient only for the home market and not over 70 per cent. of the usual foreign demand. Dealers in Cuba estimate 2,500,000 kilograms of lard will have to be imported during the next year from other sources, according to the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. Already a trial shipment has been made from Canada while Argentina is also after the market.

Most of the inventions in Britain in the last year were connected with aviation and motoring.

Question Is Settled

Scientists Come To Conclusion Animals Have No Souls

Scientists working with delicate apparatus in a Kensington laboratory have settled a question that has caused endless controversy in every part of the world—

Have animals souls?

Do our pets survive after death? Dr. Nandor Fodor, an internationally-known psychological research expert, asked Mr. B. J. Hopper, M. Sc., one of the most brilliant of British physicists, to begin experiments that would answer the question.

Now, after experimenting on mice, birds, frogs and cockroaches, both scientists issue this statement:

There is no evidence that animals have souls or any existence after death.

Argument on the subject suddenly increased when Dr. R. A. Watters, director of the Dr. William Barnard Johnston Foundation for Psychological Research, at Reno, Nevada, started the world with his claim two years ago:

That he had photographed "souls" leaving the bodies of animals killed in a specially-constructed chamber.

His photographs, he said, showed the shadowy "souls" of animals which resembled the physical bodies in shape.

Dr. Nandor Fodor started experiments at the International Institute for Physic Research, Kensington.

"The results," Dr. Nandor Fodor told the Sunday Chronicle recently, "were disappointing. We were unable, despite the most thorough examination, to confirm the American claims which had been hailed by Spiritualists as proof of the existence of survival."

Extending London's Tunes

Whole System Is Planned By Surveyors Above Ground

A $75,000,000 project—the extension of the Central London Underground railway from Liverpool street to Stratford, Leyton and Newbury—has just been started. Another $1,250,000 is to be spent on straightening and enlarging the existing Central London line which was completed in 1900.

A new underground tunnel is usually built in mile-long sections, and so accurate do the big tunnel-builders work today that when these sections meet there is never more than a fraction of an inch difference between them.

This is because the whole system is plotted out above ground. Working at night, the surveyors mark out the route of the tunnel, with all the necessary twists and turns.

Shafts are sunk at various points and by using a theodolite the engineers down below can strike the exact direction of the lines marked out at the surface.

A great circular shield is used in driving the new tunnel. It has a sharp edge, and is forced along by hydraulic rams. As it moves, men take away the earth through doors in the head of the shield, and the newly cut tunnel is encased in cast-iron rings.

If the tunnel has to go through areas where underground rivers or streams are likely to cause trouble, the work is carried out in compressed air, which keeps the water back.

Compliment For Canada

Has Made Best Progress In Solving Grasshopper Problem

Canada was paid a compliment at the Annual International Conference on Anti-Louse Research, held at Cairo, Egypt. The conference considered that the formation of the Canadian Committee on Grasshopper Research and its close co-operation with workers in the United States was the type of organization required. It was also shown that the work in Canada has progressed nearer to a solution of the grasshopper problem than in any of the other 24 countries which sent delegates to the Conference.

Left Brief Will

The fate of $5,400.00 was decided by six lines of writing in Melbourne, Australia. The money was the fortune of Mr. Benjamin Nathan, senior partner in a furniture warehouse firm. His will, a six-line document, has now been proved. It divides the money between his two married daughters.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA GRAIG

I told myself then that if I saw you again that it would be a sign to me that at last I had found the girl I wanted. Heaven knows I've turned the town upside down, looking for somebody who could look the part, as well as act it. When I saw you again tonight—well, you know what I said—Three times and out. I guess you didn't understand. He leaned over and looked her straight in the eyes. "I don't know who you are, nor anything about you, except for the essential things. I asked your agent how many times you had been seen. I don't want to know anything else. The past is gone. Your life begins this minute."

"You want to play—to be envied; loved. . . I'll make you the talk of the town—do a better press agent job than any movie actress ever heard of. It's a natural. You'll start out with an advantage no siren in history ever had. Your reputation is already made for you! All you have to do is live up to it! It won't be with a Broadway background, either. It will be among the 'best people' in town, those with whom you'll mingle, on whom you'll cast your spell. Your every wish shall be realized. You are beautiful—which of course you know. I'll provide the clothes and all the stage scenery. Every woman in town will be envious of you; every man will want to make love to you. Play up to it. Play!"

He paused to let his words sink in. To Starr it was still all part of that unreal dream she was sure was not yet finished. But he looked real enough. His voice was no fragment of her imagination, his earnestness sincere. He pressed his advantage, seeing her quiescence.

RHEUMATISM

"All I ask is that you keep your name in the headlines—not of course with any remotest connection of a Starr Ellison that was. That girl's dead from this minute on—dead and buried. A new one, the famous, or infamous actor, has arisen in her place." He could not, or would not, see the stricken look in Starr's eyes as he made his emphasis, nor could he know of the choke in her throat that kept her from crying out, "Dead and buried"—he had said. He was interested only in his own scheming. "Starr Ellison, the author, must be kept on the front page, if possible, right from the go-off. I don't care how. It won't matter. What will be of account will be that every mention you get will increase the sales of the book. You'll make a fortune for me—and I will pay you accordingly."

He stopped and studied her a moment more, nodded his satisfaction. "Yes, you look the type all right—knew it from the start—with those mysterious eyes of yours and all. . . We'll have to cook up some kind of story—you gave me an idea with those few words of Arab gab of yours—a small 'matter'—leave all that to me. The important thing is that you grasp your role. If you haven't by any chance read the book I'll tell you that my 'Play-Girl' is a symbol of blatant sex appeal, beauty without emotion, without a soul! Do you understand? Do you think you can live the part?"

Could she? Dared she try? Oh, yes, she understood, and the understanding was rather staggering. The bold, devil-may-care, social-climbing Michael Fairbourne was ashamed of the book he had authored. He wanted to hide behind the skirts of a woman—so that his precious royalties could go on!

Starr was to help him make a fortune so that he could marry the proud Stephanie. She was to sacrifice her own personality—he didn't care the flick of a wrist about that; he had said so in no unmistakable terms. She was to quit being the Starr Ellison she had known for almost twenty-three years and allow herself to evolve into a glamorous fiction character, a creation of the brilliant mind of Michael Fairbourne! Who was ashamed of it.

She flung up her head proudly, in that gesture her father had so often believed the disdainful hauteur of her beloved ancient Egyptian princess. She wanted to tell him—so many things. Then she wilted. The realization of everything came back to her; things she had forgotten; the six months of life—Tut-Am-en-Ra—Anne Sun. Michael Fairbourne wanted her to do this thing. Well, why not? Six months of life, after all, were all she had left. She would have no future in which to harbor any lingering regrets. "She" had rallied against the fate which condemned her to be a drab, falling star. This man was giving her the chance to flash through those last six months, a flaming meteor. It could be Fate—an answer to her defiance of the Egyptian gods and their curses.

To do as he asked meant that she could drink deep of the gay wine of life. In her few months she could crowd in a lifetime of thrills. Defy grim destiny in a reckless round of pleasure. Surely she had the right to do that, she who was doomed? A strange excitement possessed her suddenly. Her camello features glowed. She said, impulsively: "I can do it!"

Michael's hand came across the table. A big warm hand clasping her cold small one to seal their bargain, she lifted her lashes to look at him out of her long, mysterious eyes. It didn't seem just exactly right. She must make some protest. After all, if they were to be so intimately associated, would it not be better if she confessed to him—a few things. She said softly:

"But after all, were strangers. . . Why should we trust one another so far? You know nothing of me. . ."

He flung up his head, smiling enigmatically, but the hardness in his tone was not so noticeable.

"I thought we'd passed that. But what does it matter? Strangers—yes, perhaps. But do any of us ever truly know each other? Even after we've lived in close companionship all our lives? Aren't we lonely souls—all of us? Strangers?" The one brief glimpse he allowed her into his inner mind passed instantly. Once again he was the coldly calculating business man. He mentioned them, as though it were an afterthought:

"It's only fair to tell you that the job won't last forever. It may not last long at all. That's rather up to you—and to me, I suppose, as your manager—press agent. Public fancy is fickle. You will be 'Play-Girl' only as long as people are interested in the book. It may possibly be but a few months. Then you will have to go back—wherever you came from."

A dagger of ice stabbed at Starr's heart. Her great black eyes assumed that wistful, haunting expression, that suggestion as of looking upon things remote and unearthly, which was part of her greatest beauty.

MINARD'S LINIMENT

"KING OF PAIN"

She murmured as though to herself: "A few months will be—enough."

CHAPTER VI.

"We've got to have a background for you," Michael had said not in the least interested that Starr might have a perfectly good one, ready-made. And so he proceeded to furnish her with one which would have made an excellent plot for some other book he might some day write. Which suited Starr excellently. In this new role she didn't want to be reminded of the Starr Ellison of tragic days, nor would she have cared to be identified back with New England home town with the Starr Ellison who was the notorious "Play-Girl."

She entered into all Michael's schemes enthusiastically, surprised at herself that she no longer shrank from all his talk about Egypt and Egyptian things. Her communion with the priestess on a vase in the Museum had done that. In fact, she rather welcomed the idea of having Egypt recalled in every way, much as a wound can be temporarily eased by the anaesthesia of further wounding.

It was Michael's idea to say she had come from Cairo. There was to be considerable mystery about just who she was, but he would see to it that there were rumors spread of her being the daughter of an American soldier of fortune and an Egyptian mother whose ancient and distinguished ancestry could be traced back to princesses of Cleopatra's day. "You see," Michael explained, "it would all work out splendidly—with those eyes of yours and your mysterious air, to say nothing of those few words of Arabic you've picked up, though God knows where. Besides Cairo's so far away no one can investigate and find out anything at all. . ."

The London Sunday Express says when the Canadians came first to France, khaki-clad, and many of them with the speech of France on their lips, French people felt almost that another France had leaped to their aid. Now the Canadians, who stood under the noble memorial on Viny Ridge, realize that there is another Canada on the soil of France, but Canadian for ever by the purchase of blood and courage.

Naturalists Return To Victoria After 3,000-Mile Trip

After collecting 20,000 rare Alpine plants, Ed. and Joe Lohbrunner, Victoria naturalists, came back to civilization after a 3,000-mile trip on the fringe of the Arctic.

"It's difficult to say what a rare plant is," Joe Lohbrunner, said. "Where we were these plants are plentiful but they are, rare down here."

On the Ogilvie range on the border of Alaska and the Yukon Territory the Lohbrunners waded through Rhododendrons—millions of them as far as the eye could see. There they found what they believe to be new species of ferns.

On their return trip the brothers arrived at Valdez, Alaska, and tried to book passages on the boat but found the ship was full. The next two boats were also booked up.

"We had to get out of the country somehow," Joe Lohbrunner said, "so we stowed away."

The expedition was financed by prominent British and United States naturalists.

A giant arum lily, eight feet high and three and a half feet across is attracting crowds to the hothouse of the Agricultural High School at Wageningen, in Holland. It blossomed the first time in July, 1932, and is the only specimen in Europe.

THE LIBERTY OF THE PRESS

"I fear I am going to be forced to come to the conclusion that the calibre of the men who are managing these papers is so low as to be unsafe to claim liberty for the press at all. They should not be at large."

"I feel sure that the citizens of Alberta will soon come to the judgment that something should be done to curb the mad-dog operations of certain of the financial newspapers. I do not wish to curtail their liberty. I have been most patient, but there is a difference between liberty and license."

The above are two quotations from the address of Premier Aberhart on Sunday last, and are an indication of his mental attitude toward the press of Alberta and Canada.

It is easy to understand Mr. Aberhart's resentment of criticism. For years he was a school teacher dealing with children who did not question his authority or statements, he was by virtue of his position more or less of an autocrat.

Since, however, he has entered public life, he is contacting men. Men with as large intellects and with a vaster experience in meeting and dealing with public matters. Men who have been trained to weigh carefully all public statements and to offer criticisms and suggestions. Some of these criticisms may become severe, but we believe that the vast majority of them are sincere and honest, and as such should be heard patiently and weighed according to their merit.

Of the criticism of Premier Aberhart and his policies, he has no reason to complain, and if at any time any paper in Alberta or in Canada has made any false statements, then Mr. Aberhart has the right and privilege of appealing to the courts of Canada, and the libel laws of Canada mean something.

We are just afraid that our Premier, Mr. Aberhart, is not yet schooled to take criticism without bitter resentment.—Innisfail Province.

Jever hear Mr. Mackenzie King, Mr. Crear, Mr. Woodsworth or Mr. Bennett tell an audience of how well they were received at a previous meeting, and how much they were benefitted by their addresses. It's just a kid's idea!

After an absence of twenty-five years, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Murphy visited The Pass last week and were guests of Mr. Murphy's sister and brother-in-law at Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. James Naylor. Travelling by motor, they continued Tuesday to Brooks, where they will spend a while with Mrs. Murphy's mother and sister, Mrs. Chatfield and daughter. They hope to return to Vancouver Island towards the end of the month. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were early day residents of Frank, where he for years carried on a successful general furnishing business. At present he is following a similar line of business at Nanaimo on the island, ably assisted by his two sons.

A BRUTAL WAR

The prolonged duration of the Spanish civil war has plainly exasperated the tempers and intensified the bitterness on both sides. The summary executions of prisoners, the murder of innocent civilians, and the wanton acts of violence which are reported from all parts of Spain give a shocking picture of the horrors of civil war. Neither side can by any cunning selection of facts be shown guiltless of brutalities which are disgraceful to civilized beings. But warfare is not a civilized proceeding; in it men relapse into a state of nature, and the fratricide of civil war is the most unnatural form of all. At the same time we must recognize that "atrocities stories" are equally the inevitable product of war, and we must beware of accepting unreservedly all we are asked to believe.

But when all due discounts have been made the records of this war are frightful, and it may well be that they are worse because of the circumstances in which the war arose and because of the character of the Spanish people. The Spanish bull-fight, so much more brutal, for example, than the Portuguese bull-fight, bears witness to the cruel streak in the Spaniard in times of peace. And this little town at least may be said to explain the bitterness of the Spanish workers, though not to excuse some of its worst results. During the period which preceded the victory of the Left parties at the general election in February the swift reductions of wages to a starvation level, the victimization of employees, and the divorce of many peasants from their tiny strips of land produced a feeling of exasperation among an illiterate and poverty-stricken people. Yet when the Azana Government took office and brought prospects of relief the army rebels at once plotted to overthrow it. Nothing can be said to mitigate the conduct of the military party. Their decision to raise the standard of rebellion created the very conditions in which cruellest flourish, their importation of black troops to massacre their fellow-countrymen has spread the temper which breeds furious reprisals that fall on guilty and innocent alike.—Manchester Guardian.

HUMAN NATURE

It is quite amazing to find the large number of people who will follow a "will o' the wisp" in a wave of excitement. An Associated Press dispatch says that the arrest has been requested of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the aged advocate of $200.00 a month pension for everybody in the United States over 60 years of age. This demand was made when he failed to appear for a deposition hearing in a receivership suit against his organization.

Dr. Townsend and his followers have been capitalizing on his scheme and through various organizations made collections of money running up into, so the press states, millions of dollars. It would appear from the dispatches that his large financial propaganda has become bankrupt and gone into the hands of a receiver.

If the great advocate of payment for nothing of $200.00 per month to every man and woman over 60 years in the United States is incapable of soundly carrying on his own collection of funds, then it would appear that his judgment and capacity are not of a type that should bear weight with the electorate of the United States or any other country.

Rev. Alfred J. Wright, a former director of the Townsend Institution, is issuing a suit for receivership and an accounting of one million dollars in Townsend funds. Mr. Wright is the man who asks for the arrest of Dr. Townsend.

It has been said that it is more difficult to stand on a street corner and sell genuine gold dollars at fifty cents each than it is for many high pressure salesmen to sell shares in a hole in a swamp as a gold mining venture.—Truro Weekly News.

VIEWPOINT ON LIFE IN THE SMALL TOWN

The following is from the Victoria Times written by Bruce Hutchison, and is a word for the small town man.

The other day I was talking to a man who lives by choice in one of the little towns up the island. He has travelled most places, seen the world and has settled in a village rather than in Victoria, because he likes it. I asked him how a man who had been taken advantage of by our comrades to immediately open up negotiations with the C.P., must now be taken advantage of by our comrades to immediately open up negotiations with the C.P. clubs in their localities and work out together with them a joint program covering the next few months; wherever possible joint mass meetings should be arranged by the

That, my friends, is where you are quite wrong, said he. The people in the small town are not half as stagnant intellectually as the people of a big city. The small town man is broader in his ideas than the big city man. He knows more about what is happening in the world. He has more ideas. He usually has more intelligence also.

I lived in New York for a long time, and I found that the average New Yorker, so slick and shiny on the surface, is beneath it the biggest hick in the world. He knows nothing but New York and an endless round of pavements and subways. He has no notion of what is going on outside. He thinks New York is the world. He is too busy anyway to think about anything.

On a smaller scale, Vancouver is the same. A large part of the population of Vancouver thinks Vancouver is British Columbia and doesn't trouble to look further. But the man in the small town has his eye on the big places. He reads the outside paper and he has time to think. I tell you, I have heard more wisdom in the beer parlor in our little town on a Saturday night than I've heard among the big shots of Wall Street. I dare say there is more intelligence scattered about Vancouver Island—mostly outside Victoria, because even you are getting too big, you know—than you could find in all Vancouver.

Why, the best brain I have ever met (and I have seen some of the most famous) lives on a little farm in the Comox Valley in a house that cost $200 to build and has no plumbing. That's why I live in a village—not for love of nature and the outdoors, but because I'm interested in people. That is where they live. Only the shadows of people live in cities. You, said my friend to me, are one of them. This, I am convinced, is true.—Ex.

EVERY MORNING

BEGINS A NEW DAY

Never mind what has been. Remember that every morning begins a new day, a day for fresh endeavor, a day that may and should be filled with hope and gladness. Don't add to your blunders by condemning yourself too harshly for your errors and shortcomings. Better folks than you have made worse mistakes and bigger failures. Forgive yourself as fully and freely as you would forgive another, and go cheerily on, leaving the shadows of regret behind.—Anon.

COMMUNISTS URGE
CO-OPERATION WITH SOCIAL CREDITERS

The district bureau of the Communist party at Edmonton has issued a circular, dated July 20, in part as follows:

"In all our mass united front work we must establish the closest possible relation with the Social Credit people so as not to isolate them from the unity movement, as this would only play into the hands of the reactionary forces, who are now working to create a mass base for themselves among the disillusioned Social Credit followers.

"In the country and in the cities our comrades must utilize every opportunity to unite the broadest section of the people around their most burning immediate problems. The question of unemployment and immediate relief for the drought stricken farmers are the best means through which we can unite the broadest section of the people. We should take advantage of every local problem that arises to call conferences, hold mass meetings, etc.

"The local M.L.A. should be contacted and his stand on these questions ascertained, delegations and resolutions sent to the government with demand for immediate action.

"The recently held C.C.F. convention, which declared itself in favor for unity with the C.P., must now be taken advantage of by our comrades to immediately open up negotiations with the C.P. clubs in their localities and work out together with them a joint program covering the next few months; wherever possible joint mass meetings should be arranged by the

FOR SPEAKERS!

For something like 16 years, in the pursuance of duty, we have listened to speeches. Three or four, in all that time, were worth listening to. The others might have been boiled down to the following bromides: "It is indeed, a pleasure, to be with you this evening. I am not unimpressed... I am reminded of the story of the Scotsman... I make this statement without fear of successful contradiction... The future fate of America lies in the sanctity of the home... Our mothers, God bless them! Washington, Jefferson, and Lincoln... Our great President... The money barons of Wall Street... I am willing to put my case before the people... One more word and I am done (that word taking 38 minutes longer)... I thank you."—Arkansas City Traveler.

C.C.F. and C.P.

"The party must now more than ever before speak openly in its own name on the present political situation in the province and must become the most outstanding exponent of unity and action.

"Never before in the history of our movement have we had such a task placed on our shoulders as we have today, where we are in a position now to give a lead to the entire progressive section of the population. Never have conditions favored successful Communist mass work as it is the case today. Within the next few months we will have the possibility to recruit into our party thousands of the best people from the Social Credit movement."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SHOTS OVER BRIGHT WATERS

Artistic value and extra light combine to help the photographer in scenes that include an expanse of water. Clouds and back lighting enhance this shot.

If you live by the sea, lake or river, or when you spend time by them for health and recreation, don't forget that you are in a snapshotter's paradise.

Always where there is water, by it or on it, there are presented to the amateur picture-taker scenes of charm, beauty, action and human interest, as subject and background for eye-delineating photographs. The ocean surf, the mirrored calm of still waters in bay and inlet, the beauty of shore lines, seaport villages nestling at the water's edge, shadowed wharves, majestically moving steamships, speeding motor craft, graceful sailing yachts heeling to the wind, the men of the sea doing their salty tasks, and, inland, much the same scenes on lake and river—what more in opportunity for the camera enthusiast?

In addition, where there is water, one seldom has to complain of lack of light, even on the stormiest day, for water is a natural, sometimes dazzling, reflector. Indeed, if you will take note, color tones of most everything that composes the scenic frame of bodies of water are more brilliant—bluer, greener, redder, yellower, whiter—than in land-scapes. Chances for clear, sharp pictures are the best.

This over-abundance of light is something to allow for when you are making pictures over the water on bright days. Beware the large stop

TRY THIS ONE ON YOUR BARBER AND SEE IF HE CAN "SHAVE IT"

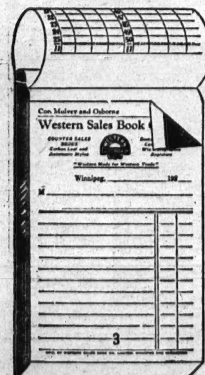

After a year's study of time taken for the average barber shop rendition of services, the Wisconsin state barbers' association last week released the following times as average for their journeymen:

Haircut, 22.7 minutes; shave, 17.2 minutes; shampoo, 2.67 minutes; singe, 10.9 minutes; hair tonic application, 8.6 minutes; mud pack, 36 minutes.

Wonder how local tonsorial artists measure up to these time standards? Next time in the chair the local police might use their stop watches to answer the question.

Did you ever hear Mackenzie King or R. B. Bennett howling like kids over jokes cracked at them by the press?

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Matthews spent the week end at Claresholm.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Smyth are now at home on the ranch, after a honeymoon trip to Yellowstone Park and Montana points.

Mrs. William C. Robinson, a pioneer resident of Cowley, passed away at Vancouver on September the 9th. She is survived by four sons, Milton in Blaimore, Gordon in Saskatchewan, and Havelock and Clare and daughter May in Vancouver. The Robinson family were well and favorably known in the Cowley district, having home-stayed here in the early days. Mr. Robinson for a time ran a hardware and farm implement store in Cowley.

Threshing is finished in this district, and while there are a few instances of fairly good yields, the general average is very low, though the grade is good.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Wright, of Porcupine Hills district, are on a holiday trip of a few weeks with friends at Blueberry, B.C.

On Friday night, September 11th, a novelty dance was held at the Tanner school house, and a very enjoyable time was reported.

Father Sullivan has arrived to take over the pastorate of St. Joseph's church, Cowley, succeeding Father O'Dell, transferred to Bellevue and Hillcrest.

Mrs. M. A. Murphy left by train Saturday night for an extended visit to Nelson and other western points. Norman Horning has returned from the Parkland district, where he has been working in the harvest.

Mrs. F. A. Tustian has returned from a few weeks spent in Calgary with her daughter, Mrs. D. M. McIsaac.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Robertson are receiving congratulations upon the birth of twin daughters in St. Vincent's hospital at Pincher Creek on September the 9th. Both mother and babes are reported doing well.

Mrs. Lemire, of Macleod, is paying a visit of a few days to her sons Hector and Lou and their families here. Mrs. Lawrence Dionne underwent a successful operation for tonsils in St. Vincent's hospital at Pincher Creek early this week.

A farewell party was held in the Masonic hall on Friday night in honor of "Sandy" Thompson, at which a large crowd was present to do him homage. After residing in the Cowley district for nearly forty years, Mr. Thompson is returning to Scotland, the land of his birth, to spend his remaining years. He is a veteran of the Great War and has, wherever he has been, never failed to get the reputation of a right jolly good fellow. As entertainment, what was played during the early part of the evening, with prizes being won as follows: Ladies' first and second, Mrs. Selma Tustian and Miss Eileen Porter; gents' first and second, the honor guest and Ronald Morrison. After a sumptuous repast was served, Mr. Thompson was presented with a hand, some club bag, H. C. Morrison making the presentation speech, to which Mr. Thompson neatly replied with his customary wit and humor. A lively dance was played for a couple of hours, bringing this most enjoyable event to a close. Music was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tustian, Miss Marion Morrison, Alvin Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Tustian.

The appointment of N. J. Tall as Alberta trade commissioner for eastern Canada has aroused a storm at Medicine Hat. There has been no specific charge, further than he is not the man for the position. The home people generally are the best qualified to judge a man; but often the enemies a man has made are a recommendation. Not knowing this Tall man nor his opponents, the general public outside of Medicine Hat are in the dark in this case.—Macleod Gazette.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

A party was held in the Catholic hall on Monday night by Mrs. L. Fumagalli in honor of Miss Evelyn Semegain's eighteenth birthday. Melvin Mackie left for Vancouver last week, where he will reside in future.

Mrs. J. Henderson is staying with friends in Lethbridge for a few days. John and Lydia Sharetja, who have been residing in Trail for the past two months, have returned to their home here.

Mr. Webster, of Calgary, is guest of Mr. and Mrs. Rees Richards.

The high school dance, held Friday night, was a great success. Dancing was enjoyed to music supplied by Mrs. Altermatt's orchestra.

Mrs. S. Tabor and Mrs. G. Bamforth, who had been visiting in Trail, returned home on Tuesday.

The Hillcrest juniors were defeated both games played on Sunday afternoon by Nacmne nine, with scores 7-5 and 3-1. But on Monday the tables were turned, and Hillcrest had the play, winning the two games by 14-5 and 4-1 scores. The game scheduled for Tuesday was not played till Thursday afternoon, when Hillcrest junior baseball aggregation won the provincial championship crown by defeating Nacmne 3-2. Following the game, the players were banqueted.

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

Rev. H. J. Bevan, of Coleman, occupied the pulpit at the United church on Sunday last.

"Duke" Scodelaro, member of the Coleman Canadians hockey team, left Bellevue Saturday night for Trail.

Mrs. Bent, of Lundbreck, spent the week end visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Costick.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Beck have moved into the house recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Olson.

A sale of vegetables, fruit, etc., held in the United church on Monday as part of the Harvest Thanksgiving services, was very well patronized. Following the sale, pie, tea and coffee were served by members of the Ladies' Aid. A neat amount was realized.

Mervyn Knowles, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. J. Paul, returned to his home in Vancouver last week end.

IN THE LAST SENTENCE

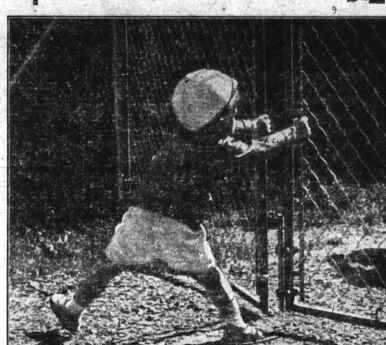

There are times when it may not be advisable to put the true story into the opening paragraph. Take that letter written to a junior in college by his father. The youngster had written that after full deliberation he had decided to marry his girl at the end of the college year, that he would leave college and go to work, and he knew it would be a great shock and probably a disappointment to his parents. Whereupon the father replied:

"Dear Son,
Your mother and I have indeed been surprised to learn of your decision to get married this summer. We do not know your girl but we will have no objections if you can feel certain that she is as fine a woman as your mother. Will she be as faithful and devoted to her husband as your mother is to me? Will she be as loving and tender to her children as is your mother? If these questions can be favorably answered, then you will make no mistake.
Affectionately yours,
Dad.
P.S. Your mother has just left the room—don't be a damn fool!"

A fellow has to be a contortionist to get by these days. First he has to keep his back to the wall and his ear to the ground. Then he must put his shoulder to the wheel, his nose to the grindstone, keep a level head and have both feet on the ground.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

ACTION IN 'STILL' PICTURES

Fling wide the gates! A small bundle of energy goes into action. Exposure 1/50 second at f.11.

ALTHOUGH the word "action," as a photographic term, is more frequently associated with the motion picture camera, we should not forget that it plays an important part in picture-taking with a "still" camera. We should not allow either the word "action" or the word "still" to mislead us.

There can be a lot of action represented in a picture that we distinguish from motion pictures by the word "still." The sense of action may be conveyed very strongly when the rapid or violent movement of a person, animal or object is "stopped" by a "still" camera equipped with an ultra-fast lens and a fast shutter. Take, for example, a shot of a jockey hurtling over the head of his mount as it stumbles in a steeplechase. There is no sense of stillness about that, and it is an "action" shot not different from that taken by the motion picture camera, except that, instead of a series of negatives depicting changed positions of the subject, there is only one negative.

But action, photographically speaking, does not always mean the representation of violence or velocity. It may mean also the depicting of some expression or suggestion of action, which may be very slight, but the result is that the "still" picture is far from still in the meaning it conveys to us. This any ordinary camera can do.

For instance, in the photograph of a person, the way the eyes are turned, the expression of the lips, the position of a hand, the posture of the

TO-DAY

Sure, this world is full of trouble—I ain't said it ain't.

Lord! I've had enough, an' double Reason for complaint.

Rain an' storm have come to fret me.

Skies were often gray;

Thorns and brambles have beset me

On the road—but, say,

Ain't it fine to-day?

What's the use of always weepin',

Makin' trouble last?

What's the use of always keepin'?

Thinkin' of the past?

Each must have his tribulation,

Water with his wine,

Life, it ain't no celebration.

Trouble, I've had mine—

But to-day is fine.

It's to-day that I am livin',

Not a month ago,

Havin' losin', takin', givin',

As time wills it so.

Yesterday a cloud of sorrow

Fell across the way;

It may rain again to-morrow,

It may rain—but say,

Ain't it fine to-day?

YEP! IT TAKES AN IRISHMAN TO TELL A SWISS STORY

A pen picture of men working all night preparing graves while heaves were being sent in from outlying districts was drawn when the "Tyrone Constitution," printed in County Tyrore, Ireland, came out with the report of the heat wave in Canada.

"In the Canadian province of Ontario," states the paper, "the death rate exceeds that for the influenza epidemic of 1918. Some 500 people, it is estimated, have succumbed to the heat. In Toronto, where the temperature exceeded 100 degrees after sunset on Monday (July 20), men were working all night preparing graves, while heaves have had to be brought in from outlying districts."

At Hamilton, Ont., the paper also states, 109 degrees were registered. "In northern Manitoba the maximum was 112 and forest fires were raging."

SIX DIRECTORS ARE NAMED FOR C.N.R. CONTROL

Ottawa.—Six of the seven directors who will in future control the Canadian National Railways system were announced by Prime Minister Mackenzie King at the conclusion of a cabinet council. The seventh, who will be a representative of labor, will be chosen by agreement between the railway workers acting through their various unions.

Legislation authorizing restoration of the director system will be proclaimed Oct. 1, when the new board will take over. In the meantime the government will reach a decision as to the status of the board of three trustees who have been administering the road since Jan. 1, 1934.

S. J. Hungerford, who worked his way up from apprentice mechanic to become head of the Canadian National system, will continue in that capacity as chairman of the new board.

Appointments for three-year periods went to Mr. Hungerford, Jas. Y. Murdoch, K.C., Toronto, president of Noranda mines, and Wilfred J. G. Gagnon, Montreal manufacturer.

For the two-year period, as provided in the act, the directors will be Herbert J. Symington, K.C., Montreal, and the representative to be chosen by labor organizations.

For one-year periods the appointees are Donald H. McDougall, mining engineer at Stettin, N.S., and Montreal, and Robert J. Moffat, a prominent farmer of Bradwell, Sask., and director of the Saskatchewan wheat pool.

The board will be asked to consider advisability of appointing regional advisory committees to co-operate with the directors in each of the Atlantic and western regions.

Chairman Hungerford will receive a salary of $30,000 annually, while the directors will receive $5,000. It was felt necessary, the prime minister said, to select the majority from parties adjacent to the head office because of the likelihood of frequent meetings.

In permitting the railway workers themselves to nominate a member of the directorate the prime minister said the government was taking a step he believed industry in general might well follow.

This, Mr. Mackenzie King said, would give a voice not only to those who invest their money in the system, but to those who invest their lives and their brains in the operation of the road.

Plans For Unemployed

Governments May Pay Single Men For Farm Work

Ottawa.—Farmers and those engaged in other primary industries must be in the position to take advantage of being provided with labor at the cost of board and lodgings alone, or possibly without even that expense. This was made known in the government's announcement of plans to care for single, homeless unemployed adults.

In co-operation with the provinces the government proposes to pay half the cost of such plans as can be worked out in conjunction with the provinces for the purpose of absorbing in primary production industries all physically fit, single homeless adults.

The proposals, as explained by Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, and A. B. Purvis, chairman of the national commission on employment and relief, involves placement of such men on farms, forestry projects and other industries with the Dominion and the province concerned sharing equally in assuring the man a wage reasonably approaching that paid ordinarily for the same class of labor in the same area.

Support From Alberta

Province Will Back British Columbia's Freight Rate Plan

New Westminster, B.C.—British Columbia will be supported by Alberta in its appeal to the Dominion government for equalization of freight rates. It was disclosed by Tom Reid, M.P. for New Westminster. Mr. Reid said he had received word Alberta is intending to send representation to Ottawa to assist him in his appeal for equalization of freight rates on domestic grain with that for export purposes.

Official Delegates To League

Three Who Are Responsible For Government Going To Geneva
Ottawa.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Hon. Raoul Dandurand, government leader in the senate, and Labor Minister Norman Rogers will be Canada's official delegates to the forthcoming session of the League of Nations. Dr. O. D. Skelton, under-secretary for external affairs, and Dr. W. A. Riddell, permanent advisory officer at Geneva, will be alternate delegates.

In making this announcement the prime minister said that because of the importance of this league session, and the great responsibility attaching to anything that may be said there, he had decided against having any delegates other than those responsible for the government or its administration.

Col. G. P. Vanier, a member of the staff of the Canadian high commissioner in London, will accompany the party to Geneva as expert adviser.

Senator Dandurand will bring to the delegation a wealth of experience in league affairs, having attended many sessions, served a term as president, and always maintaining a strong personal interest whether serving in an official capacity or private observer.

Labor Minister Rogers, one of the youngest men in the government, has been a student of League of Nations developments and was selected particularly, the prime minister said, because of the government's desire to have the sentiment of the younger generation represented.

The prime minister himself, Dr. Skelton, Dr. Riddell and Col. Vanier have attended many sessions of the league.

Objects To Loyal Toast

South Africa Party Leader Leaves Banquet In Protest

Capetown.—A toast to King Edward VIII. as "King of South Africa" caused a student of League of Nations, leader of the Dominion party in the house of assembly, to walk out of a government banquet at Johannesburg.

The loyal toast was given twice—once to the king of the United Kingdom and Ireland, then to the king of South Africa. Stallard left the hall as a protest against the second toast.

Stallard said afterward he considered the fact the king was singled out as king of the Union of South Africa for a separate toast was a "specific division of the sovereign" and deliberately emphasized a doctrine against which he has always protested.

Commenting on the affair the Argus said: "The official explanation that the toast list was arranged in accordance with the usual practice of international etiquette does nothing to resolve the absurdity. It shows the external affairs office is not equal to the task of preserving the individuality of the king."

Will Keep Colonies

France Refuses To Yield To Menace Of Germany

Paris.—Informed sources said that France, in the face of Chancellor Hitler's threats that Germany's lost colonies would refuse to yield her share in Africa under the menace of the growing German army.

Officials previously had taken the attitude that France would keep Togoland and the Cameroons (Kainrup), mandated jointly to France and Great Britain, at any price. But there was no immediate official comment on Hitler's proclamation.

Le Temps, well-informed Paris newspaper, said, however, of the German colonial question:

"No people will refuse to discuss a just and equitable organization of the European community on an equal footing with the German people. But no nation, even the weakest, will consent to bow before a peace imposed by German force."

Plan Visit To Ethiopia

Rome.—The prospect that Premier Mussolini and the king-emperor, Victor Emmanuel, will soon visit their African possessions arose when it was announced the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway in Ethiopia had ordered special cars built for them and for Viceroy Tadolfo Graziani. The orders were placed with Italian companies.

Leaves For Churchill

Montreal.—The British steamer Avon River, first freighter to clear Montreal for Churchill this season, sailed from here to load grain at the Hudson Bay port. Only other ship to leave here this summer for Churchill was the government supply ship Naacople.

Reward For Honesty

Scottish Court Sets It At Five Per Cent. Per Pound

Glasgow.—The reward of honesty was set by a Scottish court at five per cent.

Mrs. R. Lynn of Glasgow found two £20 notes ($100 each) on Argyle street in Dunoon. The money was claimed by Miss Alexandra Cameron of Dunoon, who offered a reward of a shilling a pound.

The finder asked two shillings. The question was referred to police court, which allowed a shilling a pound (five per cent.).

PEGGED PRICE BRINGS PROTEST FROM WHEAT POOL

Ottawa.—Regret the government is not disposed to reconsider its decision which pegged wheat prices at 87½ cents a bushel for No. 1 Northern was voiced here by W. A. Macleod, spokesman for the central executive of the Canadian wheat pools.

Comprising L. C. Broulette, chairman of the central selling board and president of the Saskatchewan wheat pool, P. F. Bredt, president of the Manitoba pool elevators, and George Bennett, Alberta pool board, the executive met with the wheat committee of the cabinet.

The delegation protested the 87½ cents pegged price was too low and also objected to the provision under which wheat must drop to 90 cents before the fixed price becomes effective.

Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of trade and commerce and chairman of the wheat committee, however, told the delegation its representations would be laid before cabinet. T. A. C. Crerar, minister of mines, and James G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, are the other committee members.

Recalling the 87½ cents pegged price became operative with the restriction that deliveries to the wheat board would be accepted only if the open markets price closed below 90 cents a bushel, Mr. Macleod expressed disappointment. In a statement regarding the government's policy.

"We believe that this restriction on the operations of the board is contrary to the spirit and intent of the Canada Wheat Board Act and to all intents and purposes may be regarded as repealing the wheat board legislation by making it entirely ineffective, except in the contingency of wheat prices dropping to such a level," the statement said. "With producers denied the right to deliver their wheat to the board, it must inevitably go out of business. If such should be the deliberate intention of the government, the policy will be received with alarm and dismay not only by wheat producers but by western Canada generally."

"We believe that a higher minimum price than 87½ cents is justified by changed world conditions and the disastrously poor crops harvested in western Canada and the whole North American continent. It should be kept in mind that the average freight and handling costs of 15 to 17 cents per bushel must be deducted from the Fort William price, so that 87½ cents could give a net return of approximately 70 cents per bushel to the western farmer on the highest grade."

Churchill Busy Port

Grain Ship From France Makes Second Trip

Churchill, Man.—The motorship Jean L. D., owned by Louis Dreyfus and Company, docked here on her second visit of the season after making the voyage from France in less than nine days, her average speed being more than 14 knots an hour.

The vessel sailed from here on her first voyage Aug. 22, carrying 322,000 bushels of wheat. At that time it was believed the vessel, one of the fastest and newest ships in the grain trade, could make three round trips between this port and Europe during the open season.

On her way here, the ship carried fuel for the Canadian government patrol boat, S.S. N. B. McLean, and the oil was transferred to the latter craft at Wakeham bay.

The Jean L. D. was loading some 320,000 bushels of number one northern wheat for Liverpool delivery.

S.S. Willowpool sailed with 300,000 bushels of wheat for Queenstown. S.S. Brandon is loaded and will sail with 325,000 bushels of wheat for Queenstown. S.S. Troutpool was expected to dock the following day, while S.S. Drakepool is partly loaded and is at anchor awaiting sailing instructions.

Ship Horses To Scotland

Shipment Of 84 Horses From Montreal Bring High Prices

Ottawa.—Canadian horse breeders are shipping Clydesdales back to Scotland. The Canadian progeny of the famous Scottish breed of draft horses brought substantial prices when sold at Perth, Scotland, recently, according to a statement issued by the Dominion department of agriculture.

Horse dealers in Scotland spoke highly of the entire contingent of 84 heavy horses which were shipped from Montreal in July. The top prices were $400, $435, $410 and $400, mostly for Clydesdales. The average price was about $315.

The department also announced the Canadian animal products trade commissioner in London had written a well-known British buyer of horses to sail for Canada this month to buy heavy work horses for shipment to the United Kingdom.

Harbors Board Appointed

Members Will Have Jurisdiction Over Principal Canadian Ports

Ottawa.—Completing a move initiated soon after taking office last October, the government appointed a permanent national harbors board which will have jurisdiction over principal Canadian ports in place of the individual harbor commissions formerly existing.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced that Ralph Campney, one-time member of his own secretariat staff and now a lawyer in Vancouver, has been named chairman of the board. Col. A. E. Dubuc, chief engineer of the department of railways and canals, and B. J. Roberts, assistant deputy minister of finance, were named members of the three-man board.

Study Imports Of Stock

Prince Edward Island May Take Cattle From West

Charlottetown.—Serious consideration was given here proposed importation of cattle to Prince Edward Island from the drought-stricken areas of western provinces, according to letters from Premier Campbell and Hon. W. H. Dennis, minister of agriculture, read before a meeting of the Charlottetown board of trade.

The board discussed arrangements for the annual meeting of the Maritime board of trade here, Sept. 23 and 24. Hon. C. A. Dunning, Canada's minister of finance, is to address the annual dinner.

NAZI LEADER WOULD REGAIN LOST COLONIES

Nuremberg, Germany.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler in a speech before 800,000 Nazis assailed Bolshevism, democracy and Jews.

Der Fuehrer's personal address foreshadowed a proclamation from him earlier in the opening day of the fourth annual Nazi party convention defining the Nazis' next immediate goal as repossessing of her colonies and rebuilding of her economic structure.

Ascribing "the rock of foundation of the state is an authoritarian will," Hitler said:

"Unlimited individual liberty leads to anarchy."

"All states have experienced the destructive effects of democracy."

"Bolshevism seeks to destroy culture as we see in Spain where 80 per cent. of the leading personalities are Jews."

In his 12,000-word proclamation, read to the 800,000 Nazis earlier in the day by Adolf Wagner, Bavarian Nazi leader, Hitler set forth his goal of regaining Germany's lost colonies. In this fashion, Hitler said, would Germany's financial jam be broken and the increased markets would revivify her international trade, building up "our raw material forces."

Germany's pre-war colonies, either taken from her outright by the victorious Allies or removed from her control economically under league mandates, comprised 1,032,757 square miles and included territories in Africa, China and islands in the Pacific.

Hitler's attack on the Jewish influence in art and politics was preceded by the lovely harmonies of Beethoven's sixth symphony, before a huge audience in the opera house. In the crowd were foreign diplomats, party dignitaries and military leaders.

Hitler condemned the Jewish mentality as fundamentally negative and destructive and tending inevitably toward decadence in art and toward Bolshevism in politics.

He characterized Soviet Russia as a country ruled by a parasitic coterie of Jews. Spain, he declared was another country whose culture was threatened with extermination by Bolshevism under Jewish leadership. His theme was: Authority is the foundation of all harmony, whether in governments, commerce or art.

Der Fuehrer drew a picture of modern civilization tumbling down a rickety incline of decadent democracy into an abyss of anarchy. "Authority sooner or later must prevail—either the kind we established here or the kind that will come after Europe's civilization has been wiped out by Bolshevism," he asserted.

The proclamation, sounded suddenly before 800,000 Nazis assembled in fourth annual convention, disclosed Hitler has signed decrees reorganizing the national economy and accelerating a planned production of all industrial, and agricultural products.

Montreal.—Support for Spain's left wing government and hope for an early and victorious finish to its fight with rightist rebels was unanimously voted by the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Without debate and in the space of a minute the delegates, representing labor unions in all parts of Canada, put themselves on record as declaring the rebellion was against the best interests of the working classes and a violation of the true spirit of democracy.

The resolution of sympathy with the Spanish government was brought in by John Bruce of Toronto who had to obtain unanimous consent of the convention as rules provide that all such motions must be submitted 20 days before the convention. The consent was given and without ado the motion was unanimously passed.

Gus Frang of Montreal held up proceedings a bit by demanding a French translation. He was told to come to the platform and translate it himself. He objected he was not an official translator but came forward and read out the resolution in French.

The resolution follows: "Whereas a state of civil war exists in Spain in which all the horrors of war are existing with tragic consequences to the whole population;

"And whereas the people of Spain by democratic methods have elected a government of workers with a well-known leader of the trade union movement, Cabello, as prime minister;

"And whereas hostile forces opposed to the labor movement in Spain and from such countries as Germany and Italy are aiding and abetting the rebel forces in their criminal intent of trying to bring about the destruction of democratic institutions by supplying arms and munitions, thereby hoping to establish a Fascist regime.

"And whereas this congress, representing the organized expression of the workers of Canada is of opinion that this is inimicable to the best interests of the working class and our labor movement and a violation of the true spirit of democracy and a direct assault upon the workers' standard of a higher degree of civilization;

"Be it resolved that this congress wishes to express to the workers of Spain our appreciation of their splendid fight in defence of their liberties and espouse of their democratic institutions and government, constitutionally elected;

"And be it further resolved that this congress places itself further on record in the interest of international solidarity as expressing to the Spanish workers our sincere interest in their struggle and extend to them our wholehearted support in their fight for justice, freedom and peace and our hopes for an early and victorious finish."

Migration Plan Not Feasible

Industrial Workers Not Suited For Farm Work States Delegate

Plymouth, Eng.—Schemes for placing British industrial workers on Canadian farms are not feasible, Fred Molyneux, delegate from the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress, told the Trades Union Congress here.

"We have heard much about schemes to place emigrants on the land," said Molyneux. "If those who migrate are not farmers in the first instance, I doubt the feasibility of the project. Our experience is that an industrial worker is not easily transformed into a farmer and will eventually return to industry."

"There is no apparent reason why that should not be the case in the future as in the past, so we must doubt the chances of success for any such venture."

Popular With Investors

Ottawa.—Finance Minister Dunning announced the subscription lists for the new $100,000,000 Dominion loan which opened at 9 a.m. Ottawa time were closed at 11:30 o'clock. The offering of one per cent. notes and three per cent. perpetual bonds proved popular with Canadian investors and the issue was oversubscribed heavily.

Leaves Large Estate

London.—G. K. Chesterton, English novelist, who died June 14, left an estate of £28,389 (approximately $141,000) which was distributed. The bulk of the property was bequeathed to his wife.
